

Mrs. Bellamy Storer Among Arrivals at Italy's Capital

Many Americans Are Registered at Hotels in Rome—Announcement of Tax on Strangers Causes Flurry in Tourist Circles.

Special Correspondence of THE NEW YORK HERALD.

New York Herald Bureau, Rome, April 12.

AMONG the arrivals at the Hotel Excelsior is Mrs. Bellamy Storer of New York, coming from Paris. Mr. Whiteman Tuttle of New York, coming from Naples, also is there.

Mr. C. H. James, the New York attorney, is at the Hotel Majestic here, coming from Rapallo. Other arrivals at the same hotel include Mrs. E. Phillips Martin, Mr. Philip M. Luce, Mrs. Marjorie Wertheim and Miss Wertheim, Mr. James Parsons, Mr. Jerome Adler, Miss Mabel Vernon, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marshall of New York city, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vertun, Calumet, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Bigelow, St. Paul, Minn.; Margaret Macfield, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. John McMorand, Toledo, Ohio; Mr. W. D. Ward, Buffalo; Mr. and Mrs. Irving H. Perry, Worcester, Mass.; Joseph Patterson, Pittsburgh, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Rohrs, Los Angeles, Cal.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Whitehead of Boston are among the recent arrivals in Rome. They are at the Hotel de Russie, where also are Mrs. Mary Burchfield and Miss Sarah Craig of Pittsburgh, Mr. Thomas William Armory of Boston, Miss Marion Warner of Lake Forest, Ill.; Miss Mary W. Morris of Mount Kisco, N. Y.; Mrs. F. A. Waters of Bedford, N. Y.; and Mrs. Mabel W. Leavay of Hamilton, Mass.

A flurry has been caused among American tourists here by the announcement that the Italian Government is considering the levying of a tax upon all strangers in the country in the form of a 10 per cent. levy upon hotel bills. Since Italian hotels already add 10 per cent. to their bills for service, an additional charge would hardly be welcomed. Opposition to the proposed measure is developing in various quarters and it is believed that the project will be dropped.

She is accompanied by her assistant, Miss Adelia Pyle of New York city. Dr. Montessori will remain in Rome several months looking over the work now being done in the Italian schools using her method.
